Python API licenses for BabelNet & professional support quotes
Research license

Definitions

BabelNet (http://babelnet.org), is a huge multilingual knowledge graph, that is an encyclopedic dictionary and semantic network covering 284 languages and containing 16 million entries. BabelNet is available and downloadable in its integrity for non-commercial research projects, while for other purposes Babelscape's WordAtlas (http://babelscape.com/wordatlas), a commercial and professionally updated and curated version of BabelNet, is available.

Python API license

The following licenses are one-year non-exclusive, non-transferrable licenses of the latest version of the Python API. The Python API is fully compatible with BabelNet and it is developed by Babelscape for WordAtlas. The API provides a full set of classes and methods equivalent to the Java API.

The Licensee will be provided with all the updates of the API during its licensing period.

One-year license:

Support packages:

Babelscape offers the following one-year professional support packages in order guarantee the best possible exploitation of the product. When a package is subscribed, offline emails can be submitted by the people within the organization who have downloaded the API, while the consultancy calls are limited to a previously selected member:

	BASIC Package	PREMIUM Package	GOLD Package
Installation	+ Installation Guide	+ Installation Guide + offline emails	+ Installation Guide + offline emails + 2-hour online call
Consultancy and help	+ offline support (no service level response time)	+ offline support (maximum response time: 2 days)	+ offline support (maximum response time: 1 day) + online support (up to 5 hrs yearly)

A 12% discount applies to the 3-year support licenses.

If requested, customized packages could be quoted.

Main terms of use and options (more terms of use available in the license agreement)

- VAT is excluded in all prices; however, VAT does not apply to the US and EU countries, unless the customer is Italian.
- Unless otherwise agreed, redistribution of licensed data is not allowed.
- Upgrades to more languages are possible by just paying the difference within the same package (but also in the same timeframe). However, discounts are not applied to the price difference unless otherwise agreed.
- Customers are entitled to all available updates during the licensing period.
- Unless otherwise agreed, we would love to list and link the licensee as a Babelscape customer on our website.
